Category:Indian films Category:1990s Hindi-language filmsThe role of CD4+/CD8+ double-positive T lymphocytes in the pathogenesis of a lupus-like disease in IFN-gamma-/- mice. The role of CD4+/CD8+ double-positive T lymphocytes (DP) in the pathogenesis of lupus-like autoimmunity in interferon-gamma-deficient (IFN-gamma -/-) mice was investigated. Splenocytes from IFN-gamma -/- mice produced higher amounts of anti-double-stranded DNA (anti-dsDNA) antibodies than those from the wild-type mice. Although the total numbers of DP cells were lower in the splenocytes of the IFN-gamma -/- mice than those of the wild-type mice, the relative number of DP cells in total lymphocytes was significantly higher in the IFN-gamma -/- mice. The proportion of DP cells that were CD4+/CD8+ and CD4-/CD8- was significantly higher in the IFN-gamma -/- mice than in the wild-type mice. The relative expression level of Fas on DP cells was significantly lower in the IFN-gamma -/- mice than in the wild-type mice. The presence of CD8+ DP cells may be involved in the pathogenesis of lupus-like autoimmunity in IFN-gamma -/- mice.

`predicate` the created `_.property` * style callback returns the property value of the given element. * * If a value is also provided for `thisArg` the `_.matchesProperty` * style
