* For more information about the Photoshop Essentials and Essential Suite, check out Chapter 17. * For more information about more advanced techniques, check out Chapter 12. * For a complete discussion of Photoshop's features, check out the Chapter 15-Chapter 16 discussion. Choosing the Appropriate Photoshop Application Photoshop is one of the more popular programs — and it's also one of the pricier programs. For the most part, a very professional, pro-quality image won't cost you more than $500. However, if you're a serious student of the craft, or an amateur who likes to spend an inordinate amount of time learning the software, consider the following suggestions for your software arsenal. The first thing to determine is whether your images require a lot of detail, texture, or anything in the way of special effects. If you shoot landscapes, for example, you're probably well served to learn how to work with a program that offers a more cartoon-like look. If you have a photographic sensibility at all, you're better off with a more realistic program. Of course, if you're a beginner, you may not want to spend a lot of time learning these different types of editing techniques. But if you're a professional, you're better served spending the time to master what Photoshop offers in the simplest, most efficient way. Also determine whether or not you have any original image files, or if you only shoot RAW files. You'll probably find that Photoshop gives you an enormous amount of possibilities for altering RAW files, which may require a change in your workflow. See Chapter 9 for more information on working with RAW files. Photoshop is mostly about image manipulation. You're really working with layers, masks, and paths. So the question is, what kind of images do you shoot? If you're an action photographer or mostly take landscape or commercial photography, a cartoon-like look is generally good for your work. In fact, a good cartoon can be accomplished with a good selection of just a few filter effects, and perhaps a single basic adjustment. For the most part, I don't use Photoshop's many image-editing features to create my images. Instead, I use one of the other programs in my arsenal — Elements (see Chapter 10), Lightroom (see Chapter 11), Photoshop Elements (see Chapter 12), GIMP (a freely available, open-source program; see Chapter 13), or some combination of the three. However

Henry Frederick Dixon Henry Frederick Dixon (November 10, 1827 – June 20, 1906) was a Confederate general in the American Civil War. Dixon was a lawyer and a member of the Confederate Congress before the Civil War. Military career Dixon was born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, the son of Francis Dixon and Mary Jane Gilchrist. He was a lawyer and was the District Attorney of the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas when the Civil War began. After the election of Abraham Lincoln to the presidency he resigned his office and joined the Confederacy. He served as a General of the Confederate States Army from November 28, 1861, until his retirement on October 1, 1865. He was wounded at the Battle of Antietam and again at the Battle of Gettysburg. At Gettysburg, Dixon led the defense against the third assault on the Confederate left that day. He was hit at least three times and was captured and sent to prison. He was exchanged in 1863 and briefly commanded a regiment at the Battle of Chickamauga. He returned to active service after the war, and was elected to the state Senate from Brazos County in 1867. Q: How to get semicolon separated number of rows from access table and multiply it with the row count of an another column? I have to do a simple calculation. I have two tables (Table1,Table2) with two columns each. I have to get the count of row from Table1 and multiply it with the count of row in Table2. How can I do it. I know this won't work but this is what I want to do select count(*) * count(*) from Table1; I can't do it with inbuilt functions. Please suggest a solution. A: No native way to get what you want in SQL. If you have Access 2003 or earlier, you can use a Derived Table. SELECT t1.COUNT() * t2.COUNT() FROM (SELECT COUNT() AS COUNT() FROM Table1) AS t1, (SELECT COUNT() AS COUNT() FROM Table2) AS t2; If you have Access 2007 or later, you can use Common Table Expressions. ;WITH t1 AS (SELECT COUNT() AS COUNT() FROM Table1), t2 AS (SELECT COUNT() AS COUNT() FROM Table2) SELECT t1.COUNT() * t2.COUNT() FROM t1 CROSS JOIN t2; If you have Access 2010, you can use a subquery: SELECT t1.COUNT() * t2.COUNT() FROM (SELECT COUNT() AS COUNT() FROM Table1) AS t1, (SELECT COUNT() AS COUNT() FROM Table2) AS t2; "function": "5,0,0,1,0", "levels": "5:5" } { "time": "4.1s", "func": "3,0,0,1,0", "levels": "3:3" } { "time": "4s", "func
